

Betty & her barns...Your opportunity to treasure a Betty Engel painting!

Days Gone By

Wilfrid Going Home

After the Storm

Still of the Night

The Wisconsin Farm Bureau Foundation has been truly honored to have Betty Engel, Calumet County Farm Bureau Member, donate four paintings for the Learn and Lead Growth Campaign.

2008 Design- Still of the Night note cards: Set of 20 note cards and envelopes ($15 includes postage)

2009 Design- A Springtime Swim note cards: Set of 20 note cards and envelopes ($15 includes postage)

Trivets: The 6" full-color trivets, cork backed with a hanger, can be purchased individually ($12 each) or as a set of the four individual paintings ($40 per set of four) plus postage. Limited supplies! If you order a style and we are out of that image, we will contact you about substitutions or refunds. Watch the website for inventory updates! Ceramic trivets can be used for decorations or as hot pads (can not take extreme heat but can take moderate temperatures). The trivets have a cork backing and a hanger. Trivets are of the four images shown above (does not include A Springtime Swim)

About the paintings...

- Days Gone By –This barn is located near Elkhart Lake in Sheboygan County. It was once a grand showplace with registered cattle. Betty remembered touring there with a farm group many years ago and thinking how clean everything was inside.
- Wilfrid Going Home –Someone took a picture of Wilfrid Turba when he was taking the last of his animals home from the field before they were sold. The barn was on his second farm near St. Anna in Sheboygan County. His family used this photo when they sent out the thank you cards after Wilfrid's funeral and when Engel's received the thank you card, Betty knew she had to paint it
- After the Storm –This is a round barn located near Plymouth in Sheboygan County. Betty talked to the previous owner when she asked permission to come onto the property to get a good photo for a reference. He told her that many people had taken photos of this barn previously. Betty chose this barn just because it is so unique and she loves to paint round barns.
- Still of the Night- This barn is located on the outskirts of Stockbridge in Calumet County. Betty liked the cupolas on the top of the barn and also the hip roof.
